London 6th—In view of the innumerable letters from all parts of Europe and the U. States congratulating Mr Parnell on his success in the Times' suit, the Irish Leader in view of the physical impossibility of answeing all, expresses his thanks through the columns of the Press.

Amongst these letters there are some from unexpected guests, from, persons in the highest social position, in art, literature and science.

Many confess that the disclosures in the prosecution have converted them from Balfourism to Parnelism.

Paris 6th—It is said that the deputies will discuss the question on the Copper Trust and that the result will be favorable to the Syndicate.

A deputation from Bologna visited Boulanger and presented him with a sword. The Government have prohibited any such demonstrations in the future.

The Committee of the Exhibition have specially set apart a department, free of all charge, for the exhibition of American cereals.

It is proposed to build a magnificent palace of cereals and great preparations are being made for an extraordinary display of all kinds of American grain.

The Court of appeal held another sitting to-day on the Panama Canal. The sitting was taken up by the lawyer of the Company, the sentence of the Court postponed 'sine die.' The project is not only doomed, but has fallen into ridicule.

Admiral Olloroy writes to the Minister of War, that Atchinoff forced women and children to remain in the fort till the very moment of surrender, although notice had been given that the French would fire if he did not haul down his flag. This explains the Russian official report that one man, two women and three children were killed, and that twenty non-combatants were wounded by the French guns.

Secretary of War—Proctor of Vermont.
Secretary of Marine—Casey, of New York.
Secretary of Interior—Noble, of Missouri.
Postmaster general, Wannamaker.

The Senate approved above nem con.

New York, 3—Three persons yesterday were arrested in Brooklyn for forgery of Brazilian bank-notes. They were subsequently released, and later on arrested again.

Boston, 3—Henry A. Gould and Co., who hold a large business in Brazil, have suspended payments. Liabilities over one million dollars.

London, 3—The ambassador in Madrid confirms the news of the suicide of Pigott: The sudden death of the man has caused considerable sensation throughout the country. Mr. Parnell has been quite discouraged and his followers now think there is very little chance of unmasking the real culprits in the conspiracy. Sir Charles Russell states that Pigott was even more degraded than Carey.

Paris, 3—The prefects of the departments have been notified by Government to prohibit Patriotic League meetings.

Government has decided to create a portfolio for colonial affairs.

Several members of the league have been arrested, owing to an incendiary telegram having been sent to St. Petersburg and Moscow for publication. The telegram was seized by the Government. In the Chamber of Deputies Laguerre called that the Government had acted well, and that League was nothing but an association of hypocrites, whose object was to raise one man to power. Laguerre became very excited and amid great disorder moved a vote of disapproval, which was thrown out, and a vote of confidence was carried by 348 against 220.

Berlin, 3—Government has refused to allow the Peters expedition to start for the relief of Emin Bey.

Knaffe, the German Consul in Samoa, has been recalled and Stenbel, formerly Consul-general in Copenhagen, has been named in his place. Before leaving for Samoa, he had a long interview with Bismarck.

The Courrier expresses itself in very strong and unfavorable terms in regard to the wisdom of increasing the German squadron at Samoa. The same paper states that Bismarck did not order this increase. The step was taken by a higher authority.

Empress Victoria and her three daughters are expected to arrive in Kiel next Thursday.

A general strike is expected amongst the operatives here. The cold is fearful and work is scarce. The employers wish to reduce wages. The Gazette states that Government will not interfere in the struggle between Colon and capital.

Buda-Pesth 3rd—A large gathering of students, who had assembled in front of the residences of several deputies of the Government party, was dispersed last night by the police, and disturbances occurred. Six students were arrested.

Vienna, 3—The press here unanimously approve the suppression of the Patriotic League in France. They consider the fight between Boulanger and the Government to have assumed a definite shape. They applaud Torard and say that he deserves the gratitude of Europe for maintaining peace and prohibiting disturbances by the League.

Rome, 3—The Pope accomplished his 79th year yesterday and received countless congratulations. In reply to the Cardinals, he spoke of the present position of the See and said it was impossible under present circumstances to discharge his duties as head of the Church. He complained of the delays in the payment of the Bishops. He is in splendid health and spoke with unusual vigor.

Vienna, 4—The present aspect of the European situation is even more threatening than two years ago. The fall of the Crispi cabinet, the continued disturbances in the Hungarian Parliament between anti-Germans and their opponents, the war-like news from the Affghan frontier; everything has contributed to cause the greatest anxiety in diplomatic circles. The fall of the Crispi Cabinet is the direct result of a sudden revulsion of public feeling in face of the ever-increasing preparations for war. This feeling is spreading rapidly throughout Europe. Italy has scored the first victory in this respect. and people to-day are looking round to see which ministry will split next on the rock of war-loans and taxes.

Paris, 4—Boulanger yesterday received several members of the suppressed League. He was very angry and blamed Touard very much for having disbanded an association of valiant patriots who were doing the country every service.

St. Petersburg, 4—The rumors of disturbances and disputes on the Affghan frontier are false.

London, 4th—It is said that the Fenians in Paris are prepared to divulge the fountain head from which the series of forged Parnell letters first emanated. The suicide of Pigott is consoling for Englishmen, but they now want to know the cause of his death, and naturally ask how such a contemptible creature had the courage to kill himself. The Attorney General announced at the sitting of the Parnell Commission on Saturday that he would take up that part of the case in which the Irish newspaper, The World, was referred to. In London there is a rumour that three of the convicts now undergoing sentence for the Phœnix Park murdees are about to make sensational revelations.

The Soudan, 4th—Emin Pasha has again routed the dervishes sent by the Mahdi to seize three small steamers. No mention is made of Stanley, but an unexpected ally appeared in the person of Senouisse, a Tripolitan Sheik, who it is said, captured Obeid and attacked the Mahdi in the rear. Many statesmen consider that it was a serious political error for England to guarantee to defend the Affghan Emir's territory. The Russians are massing troops South of the frontier railway at Askabad, whither large numbers of troops are being sent.

Kiel, 4th—In naval circles here it is stated that in the conflict in Samoan waters between Germans and Americans, an American fired the first shot.

Paris, 4th—Deputy Laguerre will again question Government about the prosecution of the Patriotic League.

Washington, 4th—In spite of the rain, the installation of President Harrison and Vice-President Morton was a brilliant affair. Ex-President Cleveland, the members of Congress, Diplomatic Corps, and naval, military and civil dignitaries were present. There was a grand parade of National and State troops, and procession of civil guilds to the Capitol where the ceremony took place. The White House was thronged with visitors. The people massed along the route, which was gay with banners and decorations, cheered enthusiastically.

Dublin, 4th—The Express says that Gladstone is preparing a motion to refuse supplies to the Government, which would amount to a public accusation of the Cabinet. The Freeman's Journal says that amongs Pigott's papers were found letters from Lord Salisbury, Mr. W. H. Smith (now Lord Stalbridge)o the Duke of Argyle and Lord Derby, and says they gave money to Pigott for his aid in unmasking the Parnellites.

London 5th—A large attendance is expected at the banquet to be given to Parnell. It is expected Earl Spencer will preside.

Berlin 5th—The Gazette charges the English papers with representing as heroism the crime of Klein in Samoa, and making false accusations against Germany, while the American and German Press advocate moderation. Germany considers the hostility of Americans to be due to the envy of the Irish party.

Washington 5th—In his opening speech President Harrison said: "I hope we shall continue the Protective system and thereby develop industrial and mining enterprize in States devoted to agriculture and by this powerful influence complete the unification of the people. Our Naturalization Laws must be reformed. No short water cut can be allowed to fall into the hands of any European Power whatever. I feel confident of being able to secure, [illegible] and to the detriment of our ships of war must be pushed on as rapidly as the wants of the navy demand. We want convenient coaling stations, and will get them without using force.

London 5th—The Times doubts that Harrison's new line of conduct in reference to the Naturalization Laws will benefit his country in any way. What Blaine's foreign policy will be is well known. The remarks about coaling stations probably refer to Samoa. His opinions on Finance and the Fishery Question do not appear to be very clear.

THE SUSPICIOUS CASE.

It would appear that medical science has not yet reached that stage of efficicncy when half a dozen members of that highly experimental profession may agree in their diagnosis of such a contagious or infectious disease as yellow fever. There are medical men in our midst who refuse to believe that cholera broke out in this city in 1886-87: there are others who maintain that the epidemic of 1871 was not caused by yellow fever. Last, not least, as the incubatory stage of some dreaded disease among us, or as dismal warning to effete health authorities and indifferent municipalites, we see a man dying in the Pest-house, or Casa de Aislamiento, of what one doctor calls "zastro-enteritis' and what others believe to be yellow fever. Whether it be one or the other, the public at large are satisfied to believe that the case must be a very bad one indeed when the steamer that landed the unfortunate patient on these hospitable shores is quarantined at Punta Lara, and the patient, the San Roque Hospital, in which he found admittance, and the Pest-house to which he has been transferred, are all vigorously isolated, disinfected, and fumigated, a cordon of police preventing all direct communication with the outer world. The danger of infection or contagion must be very great indeed when such alarming measures are so promptly taken and carried out with such extraordinary severity.

The victim of the suspicions case in our midst is a Spanish sailor whose recent arrival from the Brazliian coast—say a month ago—is in favor of the yellow fever diagnosis, but whose still more recent connection with the Platense steamer Mercurio and the port of Patagones appears to confirm, and very strongly, the "gastro-enteritis" view of the patient's condition. Since the doctors are willing to disagree in their diagnosis, we must appeal to such antecedents to grope our way out of the dark. It is not probable under such circumstances, taking into consideration the lapse of time, the change of latitude down to 41° 1 s., and supposing the Boca to be free from Brazilian infection, that the present suspicions case is one of yellow fever. Meantime, we cannot forget that in 1886-1887 cholera broke out on board the steamer Mercurio, in the Boca, and in Patagones (in the latter port 2 cases only were recorded) in the light of such antecedents, "gastro-enteritis": or some more serious complaint of that kind, appears very probable, certainly much less problematic than the yellow fever version the papers believe in. Another patient suffering from "gastro-enteritis" was forwarded from Zarate yesterday by Dr. Murphy for special care and isolation.

The outbreak of cholera in 1886-1887 proved that the people of Buenos Ayres have out-lived the nervous and panicky propensities of former years. The mad fright, harum-scarum flight, and absurd superstition that lingered in the population after the year 1871 have disappeared. Thus, one immense point is gained and the authorities can plan and carry out in harmony with the inhabitants as in 1886 such hygienic and prophylactic measures as the situation may demand. The Health Board need not fear that any diagonosis will take the people by surprise—they are prepared and only wonder at the kind providence that has shielded the city through so many years of municipal neglect, in spite of the many timely warnings, in the shape of periodical out-breaks of cholera, the spread of zymotic diseases and the familiar "suspiicous case".

TRADING IN TITLES

WINTER AT CANNES

Cannes, Jan. 25th.

A couple of years ago the London papers showed up an extraordinary business carried on by a Portuguese adventurer who sent round circulars to retired tradesmen and others, offering to procure them titles of nobility from two or three European monarchs at moderate charges. If I remember rightly a Duke cost £4,000, a Marquis £2,000, a Count £1,000, a Baron only £500, and the strangest part of the business was that Mr. Lobo de Boa Sperenzo actually obtained titles for many persons in legal form. I suppose he bribed some of the Cabinet Ministers.

When we read these things in novels or Radical newpapers we are too prone to put them down as fictions. Yet it is only the other day that we saw how the red ribbon of the Legion of Honor was sold under the Grevy regime for £400, to numerous applicants. In London 'salons' a lady is pointed out who gave £500 to the equerry of one of the Royal Family in order to procure His Royal Highness's attendance at her ball. This shows what a number of snobs there are still in England and elsewhere, as there were in Thackeray's days.

The trade in titles was first started by that very shabby monarch James I. as a means to bring money into his coffers. He invented the title of Baronet for his purpose, and made scores of baronets at £2,000 a head. However, it is a principle of English law that "the King can do no wrong," so we must accept James's baronets for what they may be worth.

But at present there is a perfect rage for titles among the criminal classes. Yesterday at Bow St. the Countess de Monsanto (whose real name was Esther Gardiner) was tried for stealing a fur jacket, value £60, and it appeared some other charges were against her for unfair transactions in jewellers' shops. On the same day Count de Rievez (alias Charles Rosenberg) was charged with stealing Gladstone bags, dressing-cases &c. Why do thieves adopt these high-sounding titles? Perhaps for the fun of the thing. But, then it is remarkable that they are content with minor titles, when they might as easily call themselves Dukes or Serene Highnesses.

The truth is that they find it much easier to swindle shopkeepers if they bear a title than without one. Call yourself the Count of Montefiascone or the Marquis of Corsica, and the tradesmen of London will deserve to be swindled now and then: it might even do them some good, if it cured them of snobbery. It is a common saying in the city that a knighthood or baronetcy to a man in business is worth £1,000 a year. No wonder that thieves and pickpockets act on this principle and assume titles of nobility. Nevertheless it argues a rotten state of things. Merit is nowhere, title is everything.

Cannes, Jan. 25th.

This place at present has all the appearance of an English colony, the actual number of visitors reaching 2,000, which is nearly equal to the native population. It is by no means a fashionable assemblage of people, but reminds me forcibly of Margate or Ramsgate in the season. Men and women of all classes mixed up together, the majority of them by no means calculated to impress Frenchmen favorably. However, they seem to get on without fighting with their neighbors, although they wear a terribly aggressive look. On the other hand Cannes has a quiet, peaceful look, and a bright, clear atmosphere, very welcome to a student or lawyer suffering from overwork. But I hardly think it the place for anybody in delicate health, for the air is as keen as a razor. If you go for a stroll along the beach at sunrise you will need a thick overcoat, and after sunset the climate has a touch of Siberia in it.

The surrounding hills are studded with handsome villas, especially in what is called the California quarter, where a Gothic chapel has been erected to the memory of His Royal Highness the Duke of Albany. Every night there are balls and parties, and while I write the carriages are rolling by to a grand fête at Sir Julian Goldsmid's. The dissipation is equal to that of a London season, some people not going to bed all night. It may be remembered that it was this which killed the Duke of Albany, for after a ball at the Montfleuris he took the morning train to Nice.

It is only 40 minutes from here to Nice, and 1½ hour to Monte Carlo, the great centre of attraction at this season. At present many English are at the latter place, including the Right Hon. W. H. Smith and Lord Randolph Churchill. A very sad affair occurred there last week, the suicide of a young married couple, who had come from Lyons ten days before, to pass the winter at Nice: they went to Monte Carlo merely for curiosity, were foolish enough to play roulette, lost all they had and then killed themselves.

There is a fine statue here to the late Lord Brougham, who spent the last 30 years of his life at Cannes. The Alameda is called Promenade des Anglais, from which, about two miles off, you see Fort Sainte Marguerite where the Man of the Iron Mask was confined, and in later times Marshal Bazaine. In the streets you see many good shops, at all of which English is spoken. I think I have counted 6 English churches, all of different denominations. You see the names of many English doctors, and there are 4 very beautiful Apothecaries' shops, one dearer than another. I have only seen one policeman, who frequents the vicinity of the railway station and reminds you by his uniform that you are in France. Every evening at 4 o'lock the mail brings yesterday's papers from London. The Daily News costs 3 pence, the other papers 2½ pence, and there is such a rush for them that at 5 o'clock all are sold. The Club charges 50 francs entrance. Everything here is as dear as at Brighton. Hotels charge £15 to £20 a month, but they are very good and the people civil.

LONDON LETTER.

"LA FEMME."

Feb'y 2.

Mystery clings to monarches like a weed. Were it not for the honesty of the Vienna medical professors we should not even now know if the Austrian Crown Prince died by his own hand, by the hand of another, or by a natural death. The first official account thrown to the crowd by wretched and trembling court officials was that the prince died from apoplexy of the heart. The terrible secrecy of the proceedings attending the visit of the Emperor and Empress to Meyerling, the hunting lodge where their son died, and of the removal of the body to Vienna soon cast suspicion upon the official version of the tragedy. Reminiscences of the Crown Prince's recent sayings and doings, his presentiment not only of coming death but his announcements to his friends that he should die before a certain date, were raked up as evidences of suicide. Almost contemporaneously with the official announcement a Vienna paper reported that the Prince had shot himself through the head with a revolver which was found by the side of his bed. The newspaper was suppressed for publishing this information, which has since been confirmed by the medical men, who refused point blank to put their names to a silly lie invented by the court officials. In all probability the Crown Prince committed suicide, but it is natural that the ill-judged mystery attending the cause of his death should breed other inventions as to detail. A very circumstantial story is told by which the Crown Prince's well known amours are supposed to have led to his tragic fate. United, as he was, to one of the most beautiful women in Europe, the Princess Stephanie, and whom he is said to have loved "to excess," and by whom he was equally adored, he is still understood to have contracted a liaison with a certain charming, young, unmarried and accomplished princess whose position was becoming too plain to be longer concealed. The very romantic and dramatic tale invented is that the brother of the young lady appeared before the Crown Prince and challenged him either to fight with swords or to take the alternative remedy into his own hands—that is, destroy himself; which, after much debate and irresolution, as the tale goes, he decided to do. And here for the present the curtain drops. Following in the track of destiny, superstition, even in France, sees the hand of destiny in the removal of the Crown Prince, and believes that death, as the servant of fate, relieves Furst von Bismarck, one after the other, of all his enemies. The Crown Prince was five-tenths a bear and boar hunter after his kind as a scion of the royal house of Austria-Huugary. He was three-tenths an amiable sensualist, and two-tenths a literary politician and philosopher who, like the Emperor Frederick, hated Bismarck and all his works, and the Austrian Crown Prince was said to tremble at his name. Perhaps "tremble" is a mistranslation. "Shudder" may be the word. Many may shudder, but it is to be hoped few tremble at the name of the—we wont mention names. As a hunter and also as a hater of Bismarck, he struck up a great friendship with the Prince of Wales, who may, perhaps, feel a little uneasy at the prevailing superstition and may dread being marked by the protecting demon who watches over the fate of the "Bismarck Dynasty." Supposing that the suicide of the Crown Prince was not quite so dramatic as the tale just quoted would suggest, we are directed to another and purely domestic cause. The Crown Prince and Princess, as already said, loved each other to excess. But in royal households where, in spite of Pragmatic Sanctions, Salic law to some extent prevails, daughters are love's labor lost, and, having no son, when the medical advisers of the family assured the Crown Prince that his wife [illegible] & dark" the consequences of which it is state of despondency, and the young man—something over thirty—had to console himself with the pleasures of the chase a little literature in the shape of editing and contributing to Austria-Hungary by "Pen and Pencil" and with such solace as stray princesses might afford. That is nonsense, as any horse-breeder would tell us. Disease and madness are in the Anglo German royal family, in the Bavarian royal family, and, as everyone knows, one of the Austrian Archdukes is at this moment unpresentable and suffers from continued attacks of epilepsy. The strain wants renewing, and if we get over the Paris exhibition without trouble, we can scarcely get over many months before circumstances may occur which in the end may reshuffle the monarchical cards of Europe, and reinvigorate the worn-out families by a Bismarck strain; a Boulanger strain or even something more unexpected. The present heir to the Austrian throne, the Archduke Karl Ludwig, a most popular man, in his fifties, has renounced the succession. His son, the Archduke Franz, a young fellow of twenty-six and not hitherto much noticed or very noticeable, is therefore not only heir presumptive but virtually heir apparent; but the family affairs are not yet arranged, nor is the exact title the Archduke Franz is to receive settled. Some say it is the Archduke-Heir. In fact, we are all at sixes and sevens, and as fast as I apply my scissors to a full account of what is happening, or what has happened, I find it superseded by an entirely new version. I must leave you to collate for yourselves from the papers the mass of matter you will find in regard to the death of the Crown Prince Rudolph and Austrian politics. For history I recommend you to the Globe of this evening. For sensational "sad tales" and personal reminiscences of the Prince to the Pall Mall Gazette. For facts, carefully and puritanically pruned of mystery and superstition, perhaps the Daily News would suit you. The Standard is a good all round raconteur, and the lies of the Times are always entertaining. The bank rate is reduced to 3 per cent., and there are some fears even here of 'reckless speculation,' but there are no facts of any importance to communicate. The Statist returns to the question of Uruguay finance, but I enclose an article from the Financial News on the same subject. What is said by one and the other will scarcely be new to you. I can only repeat that the London papers are now well informed as to River Plate affairs, and it is quite useless to try tricks with them.

THE SOUTH AMERICAN INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS.

(From the "River Plate Times")

The formal closure of the South-American Congress which has been sitting in Montevideo for the last few months took place on the 18th February.

The plan of this Congress has certainly not been ostentatious; it has confined itself to the regulation of differences that might arise in the private relationship of man and man, when these affect distinct international jurisdictions; but at the same time, even with its modest programme, its positive results will be superior to those of the Congresses that have preceded it on this continent.

The first South American Congress was convoked in 1824 by Bolivar, the day after Ayacucho. The Assembly of Panama, obeying the influence of the genius of America and the pressure of circumstances, dreamed of an American confederation, to prevent intestine war amongst the nations that arose in the ancient Spanish dominions, and give them cohesion against the common enemy.

At such a time the statesmen who met together could not give much thought to details, their sole idea was to assure the independence of their States, whose existence was still threatened, and to realize a grand ideal of peace and fraternity which they believed it would be easy for America to attain at once.

These were the ideas of European philosophers on universal peace, laudable but impracticable. The Congress was dissolved after having terminated a treaty of confederation, which, it is needless to add, was entirely wanting in practical utility.

In 1848, the second congress of plenipotentiaries took place in Lima, at which Peru, Bolivia, New Granada, Ecuador and Chile, its initiator, were represented.

Again the fear of European reconquest was the real motive that provoked the Congress, and on that account it was once more the chief end and aim of the meeting to form a treaty of American confederation to prevent war amongst the contracting countries and to provide for their common defence against foreign agression.

Nevertheless this Congress was of a more practical character, for a treaty of commerce and a consular convention were arranged.

Lima was the city of Congresses, doubtless owing to its situation between the countries chiefly interested, at a time, when Brazil kept apart from the nations of Spanish origin, and the Plate, torn by the despotism of Rosas and general anarchy, might be said not to have contained properly constituted nationalities.

In 1856 the tri-party treaty between Chile, Ecuador and Peru was celebrated in Santiago de Chile in consequence of the piratical attempts of Walker in Central America. This treaty, though arising out of a passing and accidental circumstance, assumed a permanent character, an alliance being formed against the common enemies of American independence, and a compact of perpetualace beted ween the contracting nations was celebrated. This was the third and last attempt at confederation.

Since then, American Independence being assured by its recognition by the European Powers, and their completely abandoning all pretentions to conquest, the object of congresses and treaties has changed, the ends proposed to be accomplished by the meetings of plenipotentiaries are no longer the gigantic dreams of Bolivar, the confederation of America, the formation, as one might say, of one solo American nation, but rather something more concrete, more tangible, ideals more accessible.

The Congress of jurists which met in Lima in 1878 had for its object the sanction of an international private South-American Code of Law which fixed rules for deciding on the state and juridical capacity of persons, and of property situated, in the country, of contracts, matrimonyl etc. celebrated abroad, of legacies, national jurisdiction, execution of sentences, legalization, etc. Under every aspect it is evident that the Congress of Lima was the precursor of that of Montevideo, but with this difference that, whilst the latter reactions vigorously against European theories, contrary to the necessities of America, the former had accepted the dominion of those exotic doctrines.

The year 1887, saw two congresses of a sanitary character celebrated between Chile, Peru, Ecuador and New Granada.

Finally in 1888, the South American Congress of Montevideo was happily inaugurated and terminated, the assembly of plenipotentiaries in which the greatest number of nations has taken part.

To the ancient meetings of diplomatists [illegible] in water, with the result that many of their slow work of time America has seen congresses succeed more modest in their aims but infinitely more useful, being as they are more practical, which set themselves the task of deciding by a preconstituted rule concerning such or such international difference, such as quarantine regulations, or the law of property.

For the same high ends of cementing American fraternity, these congresses are a thousand times more useful than those provoked expressly to form upon paper a compact of unalterable harmony and peace which could only result, as in reality it has resulted, from the natural march of events.

An American treaty regulating quarantine or the situation of persons and property before international law conduces much more towards the maintenance of pacific relations, by eliminating possible causes of conflict, than all the treaties of American confederation which the generous mind of the Liberator might dream of.

The South American Congress has been able to arrive at definite solutions of matters concerning which the European nations have not been able to agree.

All the efforts of the great Italian statesman to regulate the European private international law have fallen through. Europe has only been able to celebrate special treaties on literary properties, telegraphs, postal conventions, etc., but lacks an international legislation on the conflicts of private rights so complete as that sanctioned by the South American Congress just closed.

The greater part of the labours of this Congress have been prepared by doctor Gonzalo Ramirez, during years of meditation and study. His book, upon which the work accomplished is based, is the first scientific exposition of what may be called the Private International Law of America.

While warmly congratulating each member of the Congress on the successful close of their arduous labours we especially congratulate Dr. Ramirez on the realization of the scheme he so earnestly initiated for the good of his country and of South America.

THE CEREMONY OF CLOSING THE CONGRESS.

The Solis theatre in which the ceremony of closing the South American International Congress took place, was superbly decorated for the occasion. The sight presented as the entire audience rose to their feet to listen to the national anthems was most striking. The large building was crowded from pit to gallery. Dresses and uniforms of every variety of shade and style, set off by the pale blue and white silken hangings that ornamented the boxes, enlivened by festoons of silver and gold alternating with garlands of flowers, created a most brilliant effect, enhancing, if possible, the natural attractions of the numbers of typical beauties whose elegant appearance gave animation to the scene.

The stage was hung with flags of all nations, among which the Argentine and Oriental were conspicuous, the shields of these two Republics being placed in the centre.

The Plenipotentiaries of the different nations who had attended the Congress were seated in a semicircle to the front of the stage, Doctor Ildefonso Garcia Lagos and Dr. Quirno Costa, the Ministers of Foreign Affairs to the Oriental and Argentine Republics respectively, being in the centre, and on the right, Doctor Gonzalo Ramirez with the Representatives of Peru and Paraguay, on the left the Plenipotentiaries of Chile, Senhor Andrade Figueira, the Brazilian delegate, (dressed in a very striking diplomatic uniform), Señor Vaca Guzman, from Bolivia and lastly, the Argentine delegates Drs. Saenz Peña and Quintana.

The official box, which fronted the stage, was enlarged for the occasion, including no less than eight ordinary boxes. In the centre of this sat the two Presidents, General Tajes and Dr. Juarez Celman, surrounded by the Ministers, Secretaries of State, Deputies, Representatives, the foreign diplomatic corps, military officers of high rank, etc.

The proceedings opened by the playing of the Argentine and Oriental National Hymns by an orchestra situated in the gallery and directed by Professor Sambucetti, after which speeches were delivered by Dr. Garcia Lagos on behalf of the Oriental Republic and by Dr. Quirno Costa, on behalf of the Argentine Republic, declaring the Congress closed. A repetition of the two national hymns by the orchestra terminated the proceedings.

Railway Items.

REPORTS, COMPLAINTS, TELEGRAMS, AND ACCIDENTS.

The National Railway Board yesterday received several telegrams and reports. The rain has done considerable damage up country. The beds are shaken and trains run off the track with the most unpleasant facility and frequency. Inspector Fernandez telegraphs from Rio Cuarto that a mixed train went off the rails near the station, and several passengers went hurt. Mr. Munroe telegraphs from Cordoba that two bridges have been carried away, and that the line is in a very bad condition at Kil. 64. Traffic of course is suspended. The Pacific Line is also in a dreadful condition. No trains can run between kils. 390 and 550. Half the line is under water. Talking of the Pacific, a very serious complaint has been made to Dr. Araoz by several infuriated passengers, who had not been told that the service was interrupted. They got as far as Laloulage Station. Further than that they could not go; so they drew up a formal complaint and protested against the company's indifference.

Dr. Araoz received a telegram from Inspector Manguero stating that if the bad weather continued the Central Northern would be in a very bad way. The Jesus Maria Bridge is aruin, and but for a temporary structure, which serves all the purposes of a bridge the traffic would be completely paralized.

Advices from Entro Rios report the Central Entre-Riano in proper working order again. The traffic had been brought to a full stop owing to the earthworks having been damaged by the rains. There appears to be a lack of rolling-stock on the Central Entre-Riano. It is the old story. In every province of the Republic the railways are unable to cope with the traffic, for the simple reason that the companies will not go to the expense of purchasing the requisite number of waggons and carriages.

Our La Plata exchanges state that a Southern Railway train went off the track last Saturday between Pereyra and Gutierrez. A delay of two hours was the result. All the passengers jumped out, and after much hard work succeeded in placing the carriages on the rails. The train, which was one of the largest on record, triumphantly entered the Constitucion Station at 7 in the evening.

It now appears that the reason of the delay in opening the Provincial Railway to the port of La Plata is that the earthworks have been too roundly built and cannot support a train. The Board are therefore placed in the necessity of demolishing [illegible] of 3rd class passenger traine in the meantime.

An off-the-track occurred last Saturday on the Pacific line. The train ran against some fat "novillos" and was thrown off the rails. Nobody hurt.

ROSARIO

(From our own Correspondent.)

It appears that the concessionaires of the railway from the Pacific to the Atlantic, by the Southern route, between Talcahuano or Concepcion and Bahia Blanca, are not yet decided as to what point they will carry their rails across the Andes. We have heard a great deal of the Pass of Bariloche, and there seems to be no doubt that this Pass, known in former times by the Indians, and probably by the Father Jesuits, gives the easiest access to Chile. But the Indians kept their secret, and the unhappy Jesuit missionaries were butchered and left no sign. Thus, although there have been repeated statements that the celebrated pass has been discovered, it is still a puzzling question to explorers.

The largest river in Chile is the Biobio, which runs past Concepcion, and debouches into the Pacific, four miles South of Talcahuano. This river possesses a peculiarity. While all the rivers of Chile run to the ocean perpendicularly from the Andes, the course of the Biobio, in the upper half of the stream, is parallel with the immense chain of mountains. In olden times the region watered by the upper waters of the Biobio was a favourite camping ground of the Araucanians,

The Passionist Fathers will open a Mission in Mercedes next Sunday (10th), after last Mass.

The Rev. Arnold Pinchard requests us to announce that Divine Service will be held in Trinity Church, Lomas, next Sunday at the former hour, 2½ p.m.; but it is only a temporary arrangement until the next general meeting of the congregation. There will be Holy Communion Service at 9 a.m.

A Rosario policeman went asleep on his beat the other night under the combined influence of Industrial Club gin and fatigue. When he awoke he found that some practical wag had stolen his sword and official head-gear.

tors for the city tramways. A Boston Electrical Engineer, son of the inventor of the Electric motor for tram cars, is on his way to the Plate by invitation of Messrs Bonnet & Co., to see if he cannot introduce his motor here. In Boston this electric motor is replacing horse traction so fast that the makers cannot keep up with the demand, so eminently satisfactory are the results on all the lines on which it has been tried. The question with the money-grabbing companies of this city will, of course, be, not improved convenience and comfort for the public, or a cessation of the atrocious cruelty to their horses, or in fact any other consideration whatever, except the cost!! If on North American visitor can supply them with electric motors ever so thin a shade cheaper than the poor brutes unfortunate enough to get under their cars cost them, then the great reform is at hand: if not, the public must wait a little—but only a little—longer; as the cost will certainly come down, and horse traction for tramways is doomed.

The 23d Rural Fair held at old Chascomus was opened there on Sunday; but the attendance was rather meagre, probably owing to the engrossing delights of Carnival. There was no business done, as buyers confined themselves to going round the show, looking preternaturally wise, poking the animals in the ribs, etc etc. There was a full supply of bearable "musica" to help them to form their judgment on the animals for sale.

Young Wife, at a ball: "You are improving wonderfully as a dancer. Don't you remember how you used to tear my dresses?"

Young husband: "Yes; I wasn't buying them then."

The ruction in the Plaza Euskara ball-alley on Sunday will—at least it ought—probably be the last seen there for some time, and must lead to a radical change of Committee and of the whole management of the place. Under pretext of the rain a game was peremptorily stopped by the Committee, although it should have been resumed when the shower ceased. The infuriated public thereupon sacked the whole place, made matchwood of the chairs, the palcos, the mirrors; smashed the electric lamps, destroyed the fittings, in fact left the place as if it had been bombarded. The Committee and players stampeded at the first sign of the popular hurricane.

The knights of the Night have appeared again in La Plata: and several people have received letters, written in the worst possible Italian, threatening to "do" for them unless they part with some cash to the writers. The police laid traps for some of the rascals, and caught them. One ruffian asked 3,000 dols. from his intended victim, who put a packet of paper in the spot indicated, and the police pounced on the fellow easily when he went for the "money".

The pick of the CAMP

Soil and situation unexceptional, most interesting affair, tremendous future, 3 hours from the Capital, return the same day.

In Zarate In Zarate In Zarate

The best camp in the North, comprising the beantiful pleasure and productive mansion, belonging to Sr. Miguel Lima, the sale of which is caused by this gentleman's absence in Europe; it is sufficient to announce the situation and ownership of the camp to give an ample idea of its value. Fattening camp with very abundant soft grass like granillo, cardo azual, alfilerillo, trebol de carretilla and olor.

To give an idea of the quality of the soil, suffice it to say that, when there is no pasturage on the adjoining camps, in this one are fattening 1700 steers and 6000 sheep, paying a dollar a head for cattle and 4 cents for sheep. This splendid camp of 1233 hectares, distant a league and a half from the Estacion Lima, F. C. Rosario and 30 squares from the village chacras and the Colonia Lima, bordering for some distance on the river Areco which joins the Barradero a few squares off and the Barradero joins the Parana.

All this superb camp is perfectly fenced with 6 strirgs of steel posts and half posts of ñandubay every 5 varas and wiring in the centre. Divided into 4 potreros, each with a large trough, water deposit, cement trough etc.

In one potrero there are 100 hectares of alfalfa, 700 fruit and forest trees, eucalyptus magnolia, palms, gardens, etc. In a word, it is an Eden!

Attention, speculators and capitalists! Prepare for a surprise! Up to the present time there has never been such an important business with such an insignificant base. Base $325 the hectare. Absolute sale! We repeat that Sr. Lima is going to Europe. Remember that in the Salado, lands have been sold at $200 per hectare and $300 to 450 have been given for Centros Agricolas.

Recently in Pilar 150 cuadras of camp have sold for $1000. This notable business has 150,000 cedulas, series M. Comparatively, therefore, it can be had with little money. On the basis fixed, the purchaser can remain with the mortgage for the price of the cedulas, the day of the contract. The payment to be made half down and half at 4 months with 8 per cent per annum.

For plans and further prticulars apply at our office 153 San Martin. Those who desire to visit the camp will meet at the Lima station on the arrival of the first train, a carriage which is at their disposition on Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays. The auction will take place in our office San Martin 153 on Thursday 14th March 1889 at 3 p.m.

Paradoxical it must seem, indeed, to the casual observer that with gold coming in on every wind the premium, instead of declining, advances at such a rate that there is almost a panic at the ring, where everyone is buying as much and even more gold than he can carry. Such a desire to get into gold is simply astonishing. How it will end it is hard to say, as the premium is rushing up the grade at an alarming pace, and, of course, it is presumed that the inevitable reaction will set in; but as a sample of how stiff the market is and how great the alarm, it is only necessary to state that a well-known broker to-day gave orders to buy for large amounts at the present high rates, and to be delivered any time during the year. Whether it be that the bears are cowed by the last month's reverses or frightened at the present prospects, there was not one to accept the proposal, and it seems that the lowest figure offered to supply the amounts asked was 160. This is certainly far from being an encouraging prospect, and with low exchange, falling stocks, and a distrustful market, the financial horizon is for the moment very heavily burdened with storm clouds.

Although little or nothing was done to-day in stocks, the bearish influence is still said to be predominant, as dealers are only waiting on events, in full confidence that holders cannot carry their stocks, and must further precipitate rates. It is reported that a syndicate with a very large capital is in course of formation to take up National Bank Shares. There is no doubt that this stock offers very tempting prospects for a bullish speculation, as not only are rates low, but also it is said that many who had hitherto been playing for an advance turned round last month for a fall, and will now have to buy instead of selling. At what rates the syndicate will begin operations it is difficult to say; they may wait to buy at lower rates, but the market is now so vigorously set at 258 that probably they will see the advisability of taking the ball on the hop. The situation all round, however, could scarcely be more unsettled, and there is much anxieiy felt as to the course of the speculation.

Operations at the first hour embraced about two million dollars, of which nearly half a million were snapped up for cash, opening at 157.60, and advancing steadily to 158.60, at which the rate closed firm as a rock. For Saturday the advance was equally notable, though the rate closed a trifle lower than for cash. A round million was disposed of for end of month, opening at 157.20 and spurting right up to 158, at which there was a pause, large amounts being let go at this rate, which brought the quotation back again to 157.80, but at the close it broke straight away and closed stiff at 158.20. The rate for March opened at 157.50 and closed at 158. Cedulas were rather neglected. National Bank Shares were animated for a moment, but closed without any difference in rate, and all the other stocks were completely overlooked, including the favourite Constructor and Credito Real.

The following is a summary of operations effected this morning at the first ring:—

Mr. Oriez, representative of the well-known firm of Zeno and Co., perfume manufacturers, left for England to-day in the s.s. Rio Negro. He purposes soon returning to the Plate.

The sale was announced to-day of two plots of land in Calle Santa-Fe, Belgrano, opposite to the old Plows' quinta—one close to Belgrano and the other alongside Highfield. The total area comprises over 52,000 varas, and the price fixed was 7.75 m/n. the vara. The sellers are two well-known former residents, and the broker Mr R. H. Kinch.

In jerked beef the following transactions are reported: product of 2000 head under salt, buena gordura and gorda in bales weight 75 kilos, at $32 rls. the quintal put aboard; a cargo of 5000 quintals for Spanish barque Cecilia, bonita and habanera, quality for Cuba at 28½ rls. the quintal put aboard; 2000 qq. bonita and habanera for Cuba at 82 rls. 500 pipes of cow tallow are reported sold to a Buenos Ayres firm at 13 rls. and 100 bordalesas at 13½ rls. all put aboard. In salted hides 2000 heavy novillo have been disposed of at 57 rls. put aboard.

Mr. Aristides Almeida gives a return of 23,550 immigrants and 3244 passengers arrived last month in some 30 vessels, of which the s.s. Dresden brought the largest individual number. Some 71 steamers in all arrived in port, of which 34 were English, 11 French, 9 Italian, 8 German, 3 Spanish and 2 Belgian. The immigrants, with regard to sex, were classified as follows: 11,367 men, 2587 boys, 4112 women, and 2198 girls; 19,199 are Catholics and the remainder of diverse creeds.

The premium at the second hour took a sudden and most unexpected turn, their being an abundance of gold offering for cash from 158.90, the opening rate, down to 158.20, at which it closed. The feeling was rather better at the last moment, and the quotations closed at 158 for Saturday, 157.80 for end of month, and 158 for end of April. Stocks were even more neglected than in the morning.

A telegram was posted from the Bolsa correspondent in London announcing that a Company has been formed with capital of £500,000 to light up the Plate by electricity. It is to be supposed that the Company will establish its offices in this city.

The exchange market is still depressed, though rates show no fresh decline. The quotations to-day were 47-47 1/16 London, 4.97½-98 francs Paris, 4.98½-99 francs Antwerp, and 4.01-½ marks Hamburg. The money market continues easy, rates being quoted at 8 to 8½ o/o paper.

As will be seen by advertizement in another column, the Argentine Lighter Company pays the very agreeable dividend of seventeen shillings a share for the year 1888.

The s.s. Paraguay arrived at Dunkerque on the 2nd inst.

The s.s. Euclid, Lamport and Holt line, arrived to-day in Montevideo with Liverpool dates to 31st January and 1784 tons cargo; mails to-morrow.

Messrs. Cardoso & Co. have applied to the National Finance Minister offering to make a channel from the Riachuelo along the coast to the La Plata port to accomdate the innumerable vessels arriving at Buenos Aires.

The Paris Exhibition Committee have applied to the Finance Minister for $180,000 m/n. The treasurer of the Committee is Mr. Leon Wells.

We take the following items from the European Mail:—

"Another large steamer of the Nord-Deutscher Lloyd fleet, now nearly completed at Govan, is expected to leave Southampton in about a month with a further detachment of emigrants from Hampshire. The emigrants, it is given out, will be housed and boarded for five days, free of charge, on their arrival, and employment is guaranteed at good wages, the parties being sent free of charge to any part of the country they may choose to reside. The steamer Baltimore left Antwerp on Jan. 2nd with 700 emigrants; the Calabria on the 9th with 1428; the Leipzig on the 12th with 600; and the Havre on the 18th with 850. Steamers of the Netherlands-American Company, from Amsterdam and Rotterdom, sailing on Dec. 5th and Jan. 5th, took 600 each, and we learn that all the steamers from Holland are full up to April 5th next. The Argentine Government, it is stated, intend this year to expend 5 million dollars on emigration purposes for the North of Europe only."

"It is reported that Messrs. Murrietas have bought the biggest brewery in Buenos Aires, and that it will shortly be floated as a joint-stock company in London." This is no doubt Bieckert's brewery.

Our juvenile but well-informed colleague El Economista Argentino devotes its leading article of the weekly review to an exposition of the advantages accruing to the Government from the Conversion operation. These advantages it shews to be manifest and important, and it congratulates the Government on the successful negotiation of the business.

The sale is reported of 8,000 hectares of campin Coronel Suarez partido for 311,800 dollars. Seller, Mr. J. Baristegui, of Pergamino; buyers, a syndicate of capitalists.

Matters in a financial point of view seem settling down in the Mount, and the public seem to repose more confidence in the Obras Company, especially since the acceptance by 4 members of the new board of the posts to which they were elected. It is most probable that the National Bank will stay proceedings for a time in the bill protested, and the Government is taking ex-official steps to relieve the situation. All that would be now required to get matters straight is the acceptance by Mr. Casey of the post of president, as if he joins it his name alone will draw capital. A consignment of gold amounting to 135,451 dollars was received per Eolo from this market, being principally for Superville and Co.
